Student Financial Aid Information

Cost of Attendance

The Cost of Attendance for financial aid purposes, is the estimated (budgeted) cost of attending school, including tuition, fees, books, supplies, room & board, transportation, personal expenses, and any additional costs of the program the student is enrolled in or wishes to attend. This estimated budget is used to determine the maximum amount of financial aid that students can receive. This is commonly known as the Cost of Attendance (COA), and the amounts will vary based on the where the student is living while in school (at home with parents, on campus or off campus) and the amount of tuition and fees associated with the program of interest. This information is located on the Dorsey College Financial Aid web page at <http://www.dorsey.edu/disclosures> and also in the financial aid office at the school. Tuition and fees (which include books and supplies) for each program also are described in the school catalog. Paper copies of the tuition and fee rates are available upon request from the financial aid office.

Types of Federal Financial Aid Programs

Students may apply for various need and non-need based programs to assist in paying for the expenses related to attending school. It generally consists of a combination of grants and loans which supplement the student's (and possibly parent's) contribution toward the Cost of Attendance. A listing of the available financial aid programs is located in the school catalog and on the Dorsey College Financial Aid web page at <http://www.dorsey.edu/disclosures>. Paper copies of the listing of financial aid programs are available upon request from the financial aid office.

Applying for Federal Student Financial Aid and Determining Eligibility

To apply for Federal Student Aid, students, and parents (if applicable) are required to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) or provide a copy of the Student Aid Report (SAR) if the student previously completed a FAFSA for the specified award year. FAFSA on the Web is available online at <https://studentaid.gov/h/apply-for-aid/fafsa>. The FAFSA on the Web worksheet is also available to assist the student and parent in collecting information needed to complete the application. The FAFSA on the Web Worksheet available at <https://studentaid.gov/sites/default/files/2023-24-fafsa-worksheet.pdf> provides a preview of the questions students and parents may be asked while completing the FAFSA form. Students and parents may obtain a Federal Student Aid ID at <https://studentaid.gov/fsa-id/create-account/launch>.

ANNUAL NOTICE STUDENT CONSUMER INFORMATION

The financial aid office will utilize the results of the completed FAFSA to estimate (during the preliminary appointment) and determine the student's financial aid eligibility once the student has completed their packaging appointment. Information on how to apply for financial aid and how eligibility is determined is provided to students in the financial aid office at the school, in the school catalog, and is also located on the Dorsey College Financial Aid web page at <http://www.dorsey.edu/disclosures.php>. Paper copies are available upon request from the financial aid office.

Terms & Conditions under Which Students Receive Federal Student Aid Loans

Paper copies of this information are available upon request from the financial aid office.

Refund Calculation and Return of Federal Financial Aid Calculation

There are two calculations completed when a student leaves school prior to completing the program (withdraw from school).

Institutional Cancellation and Refund Policy - Students should refer to their Enrollment Agreement and school catalog for details on the institution's cancellation and the institution's refund policy, related to calculation of tuition and fees that is performed at the time of withdrawal. You may also request a copy from your campus Managing Director.

Return to Title IV Calculation – Federal Student Aid regulations specify how our school must determine the amount of Title IV program assistance that you earn if you withdraw from school. The Title IV programs that are covered by this law are Federal Pell Grants, Iraq and Afghanistan Service Grants, TEACH Grants, Direct Loans, Direct PLUS Loans, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOGs), and Federal Perkins Loans.

ANNUAL NOTICE STUDENT CONSUMER INFORMATION

Though your aid is posted to your account at the start of each quarter or period, you earn the funds as you complete the period. If you withdraw during your payment period or period of enrollment (your school can define these for you and tell you which one applies to you), the amount of Title IV program assistance that you have earned up to that point is determined by a specific formula. If you received (or your school or parent received on your behalf) less assistance than the amount that you earned, you may be able to receive those additional funds as post withdrawal disbursements. If you received more assistance than you earned, the excess funds must be returned by the school and/ or you.

The amount of assistance that you have earned is determined on a pro rata basis. For example, if you completed 30% of your payment period or period of enrollment, you earn 30% of the assistance you were originally scheduled to receive. Once you have completed more than 60% of the payment period or period of enrollment, you earn all the assistance that you were scheduled to receive for that period.

If you did not receive all of the funds that you earned, you may be due a post-withdrawal disbursement. If your post-withdrawal disbursement includes loan funds, your school must get your permission before it can disburse them. You may choose to decline some or all of the loan funds so that you don't incur additional debt. The school may automatically use all or a portion of your post-withdrawal disbursement of grant funds for tuition, fees, and room and board charges (as contracted with the school). The school needs your permission to use the post-withdrawal grant disbursement for all other institutional charges. If you do not give your permission, you will be offered the funds. However, it may be in your best interest to allow the school to keep the funds to reduce your debt at the school.

There are some Title IV funds that you were scheduled to receive that cannot be disbursed to you once you withdraw because of other eligibility requirements. For example, if you are a first-time, first-year undergraduate student and you have not completed the first 30 days of your program before you withdraw, you will not receive any Direct Loan funds that you would have received had you remained enrolled past the 30th day.

If you receive (or the school or parent receive on your behalf) excess Title IV program funds that must be returned, the school must return a portion of the excess equal to the lesser of:

1. your institutional charges multiplied by the unearned percentage of your funds, or
2. the entire amount of excess funds.

The school must return this amount even if it didn't keep this amount of your Title IV program funds.

If the school is not required to return all of the excess funds, you must return the remaining amount. For any loan funds that you must return, you (or your parent for a Direct PLUS Loan) repay in accordance with the terms of the promissory note. That is, you make scheduled payments to the holder of the loan over a period of time.

Any amount of unearned grant funds that you must return is called an overpayment. The maximum amount of a grant overpayment that you must repay is half of the grant funds you received or were scheduled to receive. You do not have to repay a grant overpayment if the original amount of the overpayment is $50 or less. You must make arrangements with your school or the Department of Education to return the unearned grant funds.

The requirements for Title IV program funds when you withdraw are separate from any refund policy that your school may have. Therefore, you may still owe funds to the school to cover unpaid institutional charges. Your school may also charge you for any Title IV program funds that the school was required to return. If you don't already know your school's refund policy (see Institutional Refund Policy above), you should ask your campus Managing Director for a copy. Your campus can also provide you with the requirements and procedures for officially withdrawing from school.

Withdrawal from School

Students seeking to withdraw from the school should refer to the withdrawal policy contained in the school catalog.

The SAP policy also explains how a student who has failed to maintain satisfactory academic progress may re-establish eligibility for Federal Student Aid. The SAP policy is located in the school catalog.
